

SEE YOU THERE

* AV PICK *

Sunday, April 23

SANDER HICKS FOR SENATE

Sander Hicks wants to be your US senator. He doesn't seriously expect to win. But the Green Party candidate does expect to be listened to—and what he has to say is worth a trip to Hallwalls at the Church on Sunday afternoon. Hicks will show his new film, 9/11: History Hijacked, which posits that a new, "open source" history of that day reveals what some people have always believed: that the attacks were either allowed to happen or made to happen. Hicks presents a wealth of documented facts, including interviews with FBI officials and informants who were silenced or ignored in the months before September 11, 2001. Hicks is joined by folksinger Holley Anderson, whose music will give the event—and those who attend it—a little drive.

—geoff kelly

2-5pm. Hallwalls at the Church, 341 Delaware Ave (835-7362). $5.

Saturday, April 22

AUTHOR NAUSHEEN PASHA-ZAIDI

Born in the coastal city of Karachi, Pakistan, and raised in New York City, author Nausheen Pasha-Zaidi knows what it's like to be a Pakistani woman growing up in the vastly different culture of the United States. This shows through in her new book, The Colour of Mehndi, which is the story of Nazli Akram, a woman who, like Pasha-Zaidi, was born in Pakistan and raised in the States. The difference is that Akram grapples with Obsessive Compulsive Disorder (mental illness is a taboo subject in South Asian cultures). Akram struggles to maintain her religious and ethnic identity while dealing with a failing marriage, suppressed ambitions and mental illness. On Saturday evening, Pasha-Zaidi will read from her book at the Elizabeth Peirce Olmsted, M.D. Center for the Visually Impaired. The reading will be accompanied by South Asian foods, a traditional dancer, Mehndi—Henna hand painting—and an open discussion on women's issues in regards to culture and religion. The discussion will be led by guest panelist Dr. Jane Fisher, Chair of the Women's Studies Department at Canisius College.

—peter koch

6pm. Elizabeth Pierce Olmsted, M.D. Center, 1170 Main Street (353-0246). $10/$5 senior

Saturday, April 22

EARTH DAY, 2006

This Earth Day neighborhood and park clean-ups are scheduled throughout the city and surrounding areas. Here is a brief overview of the area's Earth Day events. —k. o'day
Earth Day Cleanup with the Cazenovia Block Club. 10am. Meet at Grace Lutheran Church (174 Cazenovia St.). Call 822-0553 for more info.

Forever Elmwood Community Cleanup. April 22, 9am. Meet at Forever Elmwood headquarters (890 Elmwood Ave.). Call 881-0707 for info.

Hawk Creek Earth Day Celebration & Open House. 11am-4pm. One of the rare days of the year that this wildlife preserve is open. See horses, owls, wildcats, raptors, a flying bird show, and more. Hawk Creek Wildlife Center, Grover Rd, East Aurora (652-8646) www.hawkcreek.org; $4-$7.

Penn-Dixie Earth Day Cleanup. 9am-12pm. Come and explore the Paleontological and Outdoor Education center while beautifying its grounds. Penn-Dixie Site, North St., Hamburg (627-4560) www.pennndixie.org

Reinstein Woods Volunteer Cleanup. 10am. National Environmental Education Week and Earth Day event. Meet at the Nature Preserve, 77 Honorine Dr., Cheektowaga (683-5959).

Roycroft Campus Cleanup. April 22, 10am-1pm. Volunteers should meet at the Roycroft Inn (40 S. Grove St., East Aurora). Call Body Glyphix at 652-7805 for more info.

Spring Shoreline Cleanup. April 21-23. Includes the shores of the Niagara River, Buffalo River, Cazenovia Creek, Scajaquada Creek, Buffalo Creek, Ellicott Creek, Cayuga Creek, Tonawanda Creek, and South Park Lake. To volunteer, call the Buffalo Niagara Riverkeeper at 852-7483 or visit www.fbnr.org

Tifft Farms Earth Day Celebration & Spring Cleanup. 10am-4pm. Featuring tours, activities, presentations, and more. Tifft Nature Preserve, 1200 Fuhrmann Blvd. (825-6397).

Woodlands Environmental Education Center Earth Day Festival & Family Event. 1-5pm. Live animal programs, wildlife ecology, forest hikes, and spring wildflower walks. Call 941-6267 for information and directions or visit www.earthspiritedu.org.

Sunday, April 23

SOUL POSITION

To aficionados of hip-hop and electronic music, artistry can be created using a palette of two turntables, a mixer and a computer. DJ RJD2 has mastered this art, but he's only one half of the Soul Position tandem. The other half, Blueprint, is a prolific emcee in his own right. With their sophomore offering, Things Go Better With RJ and AL (Rhymesayers) now in record stores, hip-hop and turntablism fans are going gaga, period. With a repertoire of funny, personal rhymes, Blueprint speaks on everything from beer-goggles ("Blame It On The Jager") to friends who waste their cell-phone minutes with pre-9pm telephone calls ("I Need My Minutes"). RJD2, one of the most sought-after underground hip-hop producers this year, consumes more samples than a freeloader at Wegman's. This is their only WNY stop on their nationwide tour. It may not be Sunday Night Mass, but it could be a religious experience nonetheless—especially now that chocolate bunny season is over. One Be Low opens the show.

—daniel b. honigman

9pm. Soundlab, 110 Pearl Street. (883-3209) $12-$15. (Ticketmaster.com).

Thursday, April 27

GOV'T. MULE

Internationally renowned jam band Government Mule returns to Buffalo for the second time in less than a year. Last summer, GM graced Lafayette Square when the band headlined at the Artvoice Street Festival, bringing a very healthy crowd out to see them play (thanks, GM). Founded by former Allman Brothers bandmembers Warren Haynes and Allen Woody, the band draws on its many influences to produce a powerful Southern-style rock sound. With fresh lyrics and a unique sound, GM serves as an ambassador for a genre that seems bound to continue thriving into the future. Woody, who passed away in 2000, was eventually replaced by Andy Hess. The band's last full-length album, Déjà Voodoo (ATO Records), was released in 2004 (although they did follow it up with the Mo' Voodoo EP in 2005). The band's reputation is going strong thanks to dynamic touring and a huge and loyal fan base. Perhaps it's time for another release.

—daniel b. honigman

8pm. Town Ballroom, 681 Main S (852-3900); $25-$30 (box office, Home of the Hits, New World Records, Terrapin Station, Ticketmaster, Tops Markets)

▶ To hear samples of the music from See You There, visit www.artvoice.com. To respond to this article, e-mail editorial@artvoice.com or write to: Artvoice, 810 Main St., Bflo, NY 14202